SUMMER

A Scotsman was visiting a friend in the mountains of Canada. The first morning in the cabin, he awoke and stood by the window admiring the scenery.

Suddenly, he noticed a huge animal walk by.

"Och, whut's thaaat?" he said.

His Canadian friend looked out and said, "Oh, that's a moose."

"Och! If thaaat's a moose, hoo big are your cats aroond here?"

How is playing the bagpipes like throwing a javelin blindfolded? You don't have to be good to get everyone's attention.

A few years ago the battery in my beat-up VW Beetle had died because I left the lights on overnight. I was in a hurry to get to work on time so I ran into the house to get my wife to give me a hand to start the car. I told her to get into our second car, a prehistoric oversized gas-guzzler, and use it to push my car fast enough to start it. I pointed out to her that because the VW had an automatic transmission, it needed to be pushed at least 30mph for it to start. She said fine, hopped into her car and drove off. I sat there fuming wondering what she could be doing. A minute passed by and when I saw her in the rear-view mirror coming at me at about 40 mph, I realized that I should have been a bit clearer with my directions.

The other day, April and I got into some petty argument. (I say it was petty. She would have said it was Armageddon.) As is our nature, neither of us would admit the possibility that we might be in error. To her credit, April finally said, "Look. I'll tell you what. I'll admit I'm wrong if you admit I was right."

"Fine." I said.

She took a deep breath, looked me in the eye and said, "I'm wrong." I grinned and replied, "You're right."

I had a dream the other night. I was in the old West riding in a stagecoach. Suddenly, a man riding a horse pulls up to the left side of the stagecoach, and a rider-less horse pulls up on the right. The man leans down, pulls open the door, and jumps off his horse into the stagecoach. Then he opens the door on the other side and jumps onto the other horse. Just before he rode off, I yelled out, "What was all that about?" He replied, "Nothing. It's just a stage I'm going through."

Dumber: I'm going out side to water the flowers.
Dumb: But it is raining.
Dumber: That's okay. I'll wear a raincoat.

Jill: I have the face of a twenty-year-old.
Shelly: Give it back—you're getting it all wrinkled!

What's the difference between the North Pole and the South Pole?
All the difference in the world.

The coach for the little league team had not yet learned the names of all the players, so he called them by the numbers on their uniforms. He yelled, "Number 5, your time to bat," and Jeff came to the plate to hit. He yelled, "Number 7," and Steve jumped up. Then he yelled, "Number 1," but no one got up. Again he called out, "Number 1." Still no one emerged from the dugout. The umpire was getting annoyed at the delay, so the coach yelled out, "Who's number 1?" The entire team responded, "We are, coach. We are!"

What do you tell young dogs when they make noise outside your tent?
'Hush, puppies!'

What do you get when you cross a praying mantis with a termite?
A bug that says "grace" before eating your house.

A college football coach got notice that his best linebacker would have to sit out the game because of poor math grades. The coach told the player, "I'll tell you what; if you get this answer right I'll let you play ... What is two plus two?" The linebacker hesitantly replied: "I think it's four." The rest of the team piped up: "Aw coach, let him have another chance."

Jim: So Dumber was in a collision and is suing the owner of the other car because he broke his leg?
John: Yes, but I don't think he has a chance in court.
Jim: Why not?
John: The other car was parked at the time.

Tom: How come you quit working as a plumber?
Tim: Because it was too draining.

A couple of old guys were golfing when one said he was going to Dr. Taylor for a new set of dentures in the morning. His friend remarked that he had gone to the same dentist a few years before.

"Is that so?" the first said. "Did he do a good job?"

"Well, I was on the course yesterday when the fellow on the ninth hole hooked a shot," he said. "The ball must have been going 200 mph when it hit me in the stomach. That," he added, "was the first time in two years my teeth didn't hurt."

Three fishermen are sitting by the side of a river holding fishing poles with the lines in the water. A Game Warden comes up behind them, taps them on the shoulder and says, "Excuse me, I'd like to see your fishing licenses."

"We don't have any," replied the first fishermen.

"Well, if your going to fish, you need fishing licenses," said the Game Warden.

"But officer," replied the second fishermen, "we aren't fishing. We all have magnets at the end of our lines and we're collecting debris off the bottom of the river."

The Game Warden lifted up all the lines and, sure enough, there were Horse shoe magnets tied on the end of each line.

"Well, I know of no law against it," said the Game Warden, "take all the debris you want." And with that, the Game Warden left.

As soon as the Game Warden was out of sight, the three fishermen started laughing hysterically.

"What a dumb Fish Cop," the fisherman, said to the other two, "doesn't he know that there are Steelhead trout in this river?"

Having arrived at the edge of the river, the fisherman soon realized he had forgotten to bring any bait. Just then he happened to see a little snake passing by who had caught a worm. The fisherman snatched up the snake and robbed him of his worm. Feeling sorry for the little snake with no lunch, he snatched him up again and poured a little beer down his throat. Then he went about his fishing. An hour or so later the fisherman felt a tug at his pant leg. Looking down, he saw the same snake with three more worms in his mouth...

Horse Sense

Tying your horse's reins to a post does no good if you then remove the bridle.

When throwing your saddle over your horse's back, do not let go. See Law of Inertia: a body in motion tends to remain in motion. Forgetting to tighten the girth before swinging into the saddle gives you a whole new perspective of your horse.

Before using a crop to encourage your horse to move, be sure it is facing the direction you wish to go. On a five-mile long road with a single mud puddle in it, your horse will shy when you are most likely to fall in the puddle. Same for a single cactus in the desert.

It is a mistake to believe horses have no sense of humor. They think we are funny. Horses smell FEAR. Deodorant won't help.

Becoming aware of my character defects leads me naturally to the next step of blaming my parents.

My mother taught me about STAMINA - "You'll sit there 'till all that spinach is finished."

My mother taught me about CONTORTIONISM - "Will you look at the dirt on the back of your neck!"

My Mother taught me LOGIC #2 - "If you fall out of that swing and break your neck, you're not going to the store with me."

My mother taught me RELIGION - "You better pray that will come out of the carpet."

My Mother taught me to THINK AHEAD - "If you don't pass your spelling test, you'll never get a good job."

My Mother taught me about ANTICIPATION - "Just wait until we get home."

My Mother taught me about GENETICS - "You're just like your father."

A tourist was admiring the necklace worn by a local Indian.

"What is it made of?" she asked.

"Alligator's teeth," the Indian replied.

"I suppose," she said patronizingly, "that they mean as much to you as pearls do to us."

"Oh no," he objected.

"Anybody can open an oyster."

A man showed some friends his apartment. One guest asked, "What's that big brass basin for?" "That's the talking clock," answered the man. He gave it an ear-shattering pound with a hammer. Suddenly, a voice on the other side of the wall screamed, "Knock it off you idiot! Don't you know that it's 2 a. m.?"
